Kolodziejczyk is New Director for Volunteer Services

The Administration of Cortland Regional Medical Center (CRMC) is pleased to announce the selection of Jarrod Kolodziejczyk as the medical center’s new Director for Volunteer Services. Kolodziejczyk is responsible for the oversight and coordination of approximately 450 volunteers, ranging from teenagers to seniors. Volunteers provide various services throughout the medical center, and include assisting in hospitality, clerical tasks, patient transport, and operating the coffee shop. Two CRMC volunteer groups, the Auxiliary and Hospital Aid, also conduct fundraising events such as bake sales, raffles, bazaars, and the Charity Ball, all of which benefit the Cortland Memorial Foundation.

Kolodziejczyk brings over 17 years management experience to his new position. For the past three years he was the store manager of the AutoZone in Cortland. Prior to that Kolodziejczyk held management positions with Tops Markets (Cortland) and Peter’s Groceries (Fayetteville and Syracuse). In 1994 he graduated from SUNY-Oswego with a bachelors degree in Business Administration.

“My retail background has helped to sharpen my customer service skills and reinforced the importance of customer satisfaction,” said Kolodziejczyk. “I plan to use those tools and perspective to help take the volunteer program at CRMC to new heights in service, membership, and fundraising.”

Born in Syracuse, Kolodziejczyk now make his home in Tully with his wife Wendy, a physical therapist and Director of Rehabilitation Services at CRMC, and their daughter Allison.
