CRMC Welcomes Denise Wrinn
New Vice President of Human Resources

The Administration of Cortland Regional Medical Center (CRMC) is pleased to announce the selection of Denise J. Wrinn as the new Vice President of Human Resources. Wrinn joins the Senior Leadership team and is responsible for providing direction and managerial support to the staff of a number of departments, including Human Resources, Education, Volunteer Services, Occupational Health, Laboratory Services, and the Here We Grow child care center.

Wrinn's appointment is a homecoming of sorts for her. From 1988 to 2002 she was a member of the CRMC financial management team, serving as Controller and Business Office Manager. For the past six years she worked as the Vice President of Finance/Chief Financial Officer at St. Camillus Health and Rehabilitation Center in Syracuse. In addition to her financial duties at St. Camillus, Wrinn served on the Personnel Committee of the Board of Trustees, which oversees and develops personnel policies, as well as the benefits and wage and salary program. She was also instrumental in obtaining over $2.5 million in grants for a combination of construction projects and training programs.

A graduate of Binghamton University, Wrinn earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting through the School of Management. Her professional affiliations include the Healthcare Financial Management Association, the New York Association of Homes & Services for the Aging, and the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Wrinn makes her home in Homer with her husband Steve, a professor at Le Moyne College. Their daughter Kathleen will be a senior this fall at Syracuse University.
